On July 20, 1978 on a Thursday afternoon my wife, Sue Johnston, and I, Donald A. Johnston were working in the garden in the backyard. You can see the road from our garden. Anyway at least two or three times I heard and saw a motorcycle with a young white male with a yellow T-shirt on running up and down the road. The last time I saw him was, he was coming from Alford's Grocery store going toward Equality, Alabama. The last time I saw him was between 5:15 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. The reason I was noticing the motorcycle was because I hate motorcycles. This motorcycle was loud and sort of got on my nerves running up and down the road. I saw the motorcycle before I saw the deputy who was going to the Alford's Store. I can't tell what color the motorcycle is, but I know it was a white male with a yellow T-shirt on, headed toward Equality, Alabama. I don't know if this will help, but I think you should know this.

Stopped at 10:12 a.m.

Signed: Donald A. Johnston
